MIND

ANDREW REYNOLDS

MSc (Psychology) | MSc (Sports Psychology)

ABOUT ME

I have 10 Years experience coaching golfers at every level from aspiring amateurs to DP World Tour players and have worked with golfers on multiple professional tours, Elite Amateurs (England National Squad Members), and US College Players.

My coaching philosophy is born out of the latest Psychology, Neuroscience, and Skill Acquisition research. I use this background to help golfers make the most of their practice time and play with confidence. I work with golfers to develop a unique training environment that allows them to thrive. The result of this and my coaching methods is a golfer that is more skilful, resilient, and confident.

THE GOLF PRACTICE APP

- As part of my coaching you will have full access to The Golf Practice App, a Personal Trainer for your golf game.
- I'll build you a Tailored Practice Plan designed specifically for your game, your goals and the facilities you've got access to.
- Your plan will include time designated to technical swing work, interactive games, and you'll have a coaching library focused on key areas of the game, such as on course strategy, mindset, and more.

BODY

ROB KING

BSc Sports Coaching Science and Strength and Conditioning | MSc Clinical Exercise Physiology

ABOUT ME

I have worked with both performance and clinical strength and conditioning athletes ranging from professional golf to premiership footballers, cinematic stuntmen, professional tennis players, and paediatric neurological patients for over 14 years bringing a wealth of knowledge and experience.

As a member of the Centre for Exercise and Athletic Research at the University of Greenwich, I have the opportunity to learn and collaborate with the best people in their respective fields, through which I have been able to adopt a methodology that can be completely and subjectively learned and developed to create a long term, injury free career.

THE BE.KNTC PROGRAMME

- The BE.KNTC programme is the only programme available that not only uses athlete's data to design the most skill appropriate movements but adapts the approach to training based on each individuals' day to day physiology.
- By understanding how the athlete feels at the time of training, it is able to make any necessary amendments to ensure absolute optimal output each and every session.
- The programme is designed on mechanical literacy, athletic development and injury prevention and has so far had almost 1500 cases without new or repeated symptomatic pain or injury.
- You will be under the supervision of our S&C coaches and Clinical Physiologists who will be coaching, reviewing, reporting and reassessing every month to ensure the flightpath you are on is constantly growing and developing, as you do.
